

Connecticut Children's Social Media Policy

Thank you for your interest in Connecticut Children's Medical Center. We encourage comments and feedback on this or any other site provided by Connecticut Children's. To ensure that our sites are managed in the most user-friendly and efficient manner, all visitors who intend to access, view or post any information to any of our sites are subject to the following terms and conditions:

If you are an employee of Connecticut Children's, you must comply with all Connecticut Children's internal policies in addition to those listed below:

Terms and conditions:

You must be at least 18 years old to post any information on any of our sites.

If you are a health care provider or a "covered entity" under federal HIPAA regulations, you are prohibited from posting any health information, including patient information or photos, that would constitute a violation of HIPAA. All users are prohibited from posting any personal health information involving any individual other than themselves or their dependents.

Users may not post any information which could be considered any form of medical advice or medical commentary unless:

- Such postings are made by an employee of Connecticut Children's Medical Center or any of its affiliates; and
- Such postings have been pre-approved for use on this or any of our sites.

Connecticut Children's reserves the right to reproduce, distribute, publish, display, edit or modify any submissions for use in any purpose or with any forms of media.

It is up to the sole discretion of Connecticut Children's to edit, modify or remove any content that has been submitted by any users of this site for any reason.

All users agree to not violate any laws or regulations when posting to this site or any other Connecticut Children's site, including laws and regulations governing copyright, intellectual property rights and other matters.

All users agree to not submit or post any content that is considered to be unlawful, disruptive, threatening, profane, abusive, harassing, embarrassing, torturous, defamatory, obscene, libelous, is an invasion of another's privacy, is hateful or racially, ethnically or otherwise objectionable as solely determined by Connecticut Children's staff. Connecticut Children's reserves the right to delete any communications on this site that violate any of these terms.

You may not provide any content to this or any Connecticut Children's site that contains an endorsement for any product, service or is considered lobbying, soliciting or contributing to any political candidates, parties or campaigns. Connecticut Children's reserves the right to delete any communications on this site that violate any of these terms.

You expressly acknowledge that you assume all responsibilities related to the security, privacy and confidentiality risks inherent in sending any content over the internet. Connecticut Children's does not control third party sites and therefore does not control the use of any information you choose to submit or post to this or any other Connecticut Children's site. Please think carefully about your own privacy in disclosing personal information concerning yourself and/or your family.

You shall defend, indemnify and hold harmless Connecticut Children's and its affiliates and their respective representatives from any liabilities whatsoever resulting from the use of this or any other Connecticut Children's site.

Connecticut Children's reserves the right to amend these terms and conditions and updates this policy at any time. Each time a user accesses this or any other Connecticut Children's site, the new policy will be in effect upon user access.
